KEYS TO

Unforgettable Memories

FOREWORD

Although the keys to Wadesboro High School have for many years remained unchanged, they have been opening the doors to pathways of various vocations for the graduating class; so to you, the Seniors of 1957, we present the keys with which to close the doors of past school days and to open the doors of new adventures.

Sincerely,

THE HI-WAYS STAFF

CLASS SONG

(tune: "Teenage Goodnight")

Our school days are over.
Graduation draws nigh.
To you who led us through our studies,
We whisper a sad, sad, goodbye.
To classmates we love,
We leave you our throne.
All the moments we shared together,
We'll remember in years now to come.
Our goals await us,
So forward we strive.
Goodbye teachers, friends, and classmates,
We leave you with tears in our eyes.

CLASS HISTORY

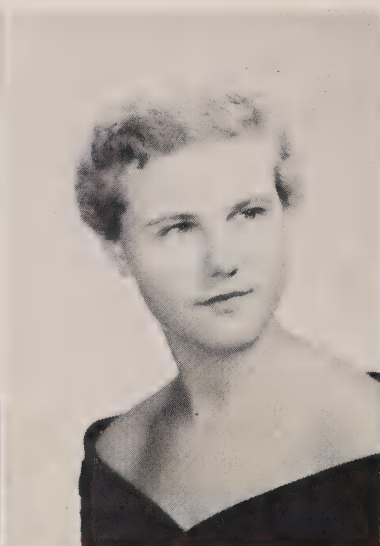

"We'll remember always, graduation day"—the song continues but our school days are fast drawing to a close. Graduation will cling to our minds as the happiest part of our school career, but inside we will treasure the many little things that went to make our younger years something to remember forever. We will be sad when we leave our school, but it has been a happy experience that we, the class of '57, have shared together.

As we take the key and unlock the clasp of our memory book, we turn to the first page and see Mrs. Liles, Miss Plunkett, and Mrs. McKinnon waiting for us on that memorable day in September 1945, when a very grown-up group of youngsters entered the first step of adulthood. That year we settled many difficulties and became involved in many more.

GRADY LEROY CARTER

Our second year brought many spelling words and our first sweethearts.

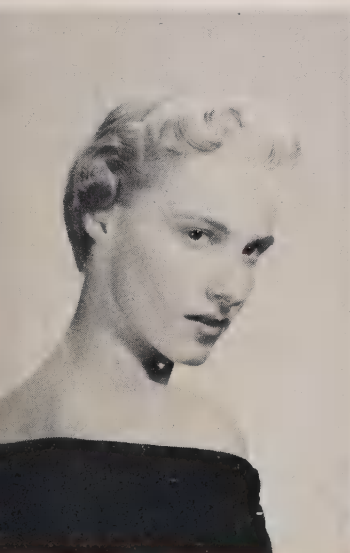

Our third year was passed with the great expectation of becoming fourth graders and the oldest in the primary building.

Too soon, it seemed as if we were progressing farther and farther. We found ourselves in the fifth grade with a new way of school before us. We ran every time a high school student looked our way, but secretly we admired them as if they were made of pure gold.

The pages of our memory book are turning fast, but we stop, and happy thoughts come our way as we see the picture of Mrs. Gullledge and Mrs. Huntley, our exceptional seventh grade teachers. We were rapidly growing up and were a problem in many ways, but we emerged as fine eighth grade students.

Mrs. Gaddy and Mrs. Roper did everything but pour knowledge into our heads the following year. We were hanging on the precipice of remaining young or forging ahead into our much longed for high school days. At last we were seen with small but significant certificates in our hands.

During these years, our memory book added many new faces, and many more welcomed us as we entered high school. We were sorrowful whenever we lost someone from our class but happy to gain someone new. We were "lowly Freshmen," but even to be recognized as such was better than not being recognized at all.

Our sophomore year, we were gradually finding the pieces of the puzzle did fit together. Our class was taking its place and beginning to make advances.

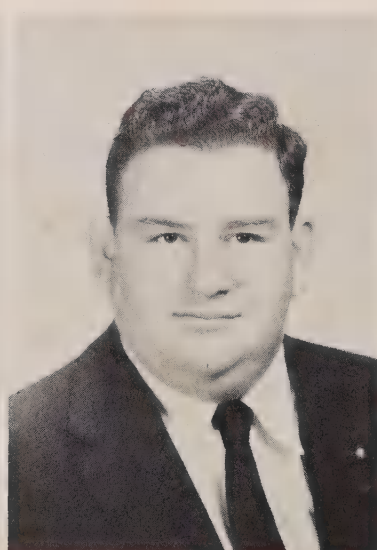

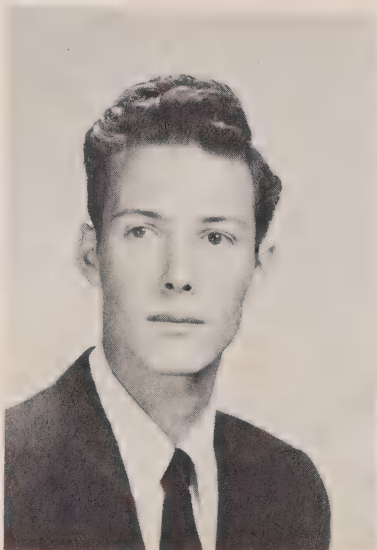

Our junior year was a highlight of all of our preceding years and our memory book is crowded with pictures of evening gowns, corsages, and white dinner jackets. We felt we were the only ones in the school who had ever given a good Junior-Senior, or who ever would. That was a climax to our hard fought years of work, for this year we feel a little apart from the rest of the school. Not in the sense that we are separate, but the fact that we have obligations which only we can fulfill.

With the help of our advisor, our much loved Miss Carrie Sturgis, we are preparing for greater heights. We have set our goal, and set it high, so that we, the class of 1957, will always be striving upward. With this in mind, our memory book closes with a final page that has written on it, "Well done, class of '57."

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

The seniors listed below do leave with gracious feelings to the underclassmen their different abilities hoping they will develop some of them and forget the rest.

I, Tommy Taylor, leave to the next French Club president the privilege of chewing gum in French class. I, Jackie Ormsby, leave my position as cheerleader to anyone lucky enough to get it. We, Ann Covington and Barbara Faulkner, leave our publication key to the lucky rising annual editor. We, Margaret Kelly, and Eugene Pegram leave our ability to "have fun" to Marion Ratliff and Mitchell Davis. We, Janice Harrington, Anita Hamer, and Margaret Eddins, leave our mischievous ways to Ann Parker, Carol Raye, and Susan Horne. We, Doris Jones and Joan Huffman, leave our ability to talk on class to Carol O'Quinn and Dorothy Howard. We, Larry Rogers and Tommy Martin, leave our ability to skip classes to Winston Burroughs and Douglas Clark. I, Jimmy Webb, leave my ability to eat lunch at Bowmans every day to "Litile Sydney." We, Buck Kitchin and Charles Tucker, leave our privilege of being late for school to Ann Warren and Donald Scott. We, Flake Marsh and Benjy Brasington, leave our lockers to Donna Morris and Connie Long when they become seniors. We, Freddy Kendall and Louise Treadaway, bequeath our ability to go steady to those who deserve it. I, Mary Eva Harkey, leave my good time at the Carrousel to next year's princess. I, Jerry Lovett, leave my ability to fight off the school rush at Parsons to any sucker that might want it. I, Charles Hildreth, "leave." We, Brantley Teal and John Williams leave our ability to be "pool sharks" to Jacky Jones and Sidney Kress. I, Grady Carter, leave my ability to get out of study hall to Larry Kendall. We, Jennie Bet Tarleton, Marietta Ward, Katie Robeson, and Rachel Turner leave our "good times" to Elaine Hill, Carol O'Quinn, Frances Thompson, and Kathryn Brooks. I, Richard Brower, leave my privilege of sharpening saws for Mr. Kephart to "Dominecker." I, Hazel Horne, leave my position as Beta Club President to any junior who can keep the members quiet at meetings. We, Peggy Polson and Peggy Welch, leave our ability to "get diamonds" for Christmas to Frances Rorie and Tobitha Hildreth. We, Shirley Gatewood, Sara Atkinson, and Mary Gathings, leave our pleasant dispositions to Douglas Clark, Don Scott, and Iris Poplin. I, Betsy Kiker, bequeath all my money worries to the next business manager.

I, V. W. Gardner, leave my ability to pass everything without taking any books home to Bill Currie. I, Brent Mudd, leave my Student Council Armband to next year's president. I, Tommy Redmond, leave my ability to keep out of arguments with girls, to Steve Bolick. I, Missy Allen, leave my "gold beanie" to Dee Ann McGee. We, Libby Buff and Edith Hutchinson leave our ability to be friends to anybody who deserves it. We, Pat Burns and Hayward Morrison, leave our lockers to anyone who can remember the combinations. I, Risden Hill, leave my position as associate editor to the rising Junior who inherits it. I, Carolyn Hildreth, leave my ability to be co-operative to Edna Edwards. I, Lynwood Drye, leave my inability to write the Last Will and Testament to next year's Testator.

Dependable

Betsy Kiker, Marietta Ward, and Ridsen Hill could always be counted upon to do their best.

KEYHOLDERS

Those who possess certain intangible keys possess the mystic powers of opening doors to new activities, personalities, opportunities, and even destinies. Though every member of the senior class did not have everyone of these keys, each did have at least one. A perfect keyholder would be . . .

Witty

Katie Robeson, Martha Deese, Brantley Teal, and Jerry Lovett played the role of court jesters quite well.

Pleasing Personality

Hazel Horne, Peggy Polson, and Charles Hildreth were "happy as larks" and made everyone else feel that way.

Happy-Go-Lucky

Jennie Bet Tarlton, Margaret Kelly, Freddy Kendall, and Tommy Martin were "foot loose and fancy free."

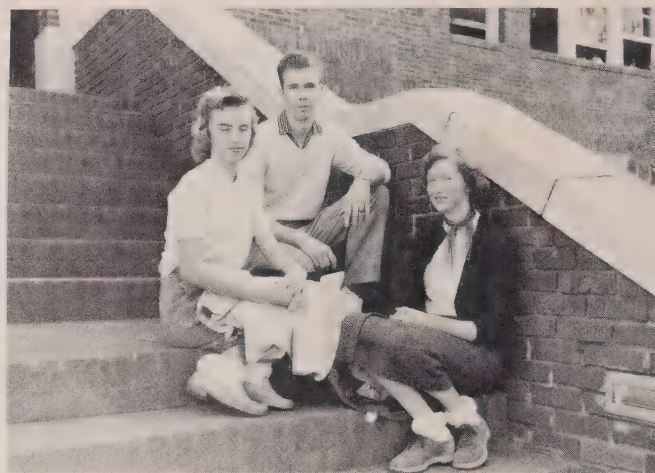

Original

Diana Jenkins, Charles Tucker, and Larry Rogers had frequent brainstorming sessions which developed into shocking ideas.

Energetic

"And away we go" with Margaret Eddins, Edith Hutchison and Tommy Taylor.

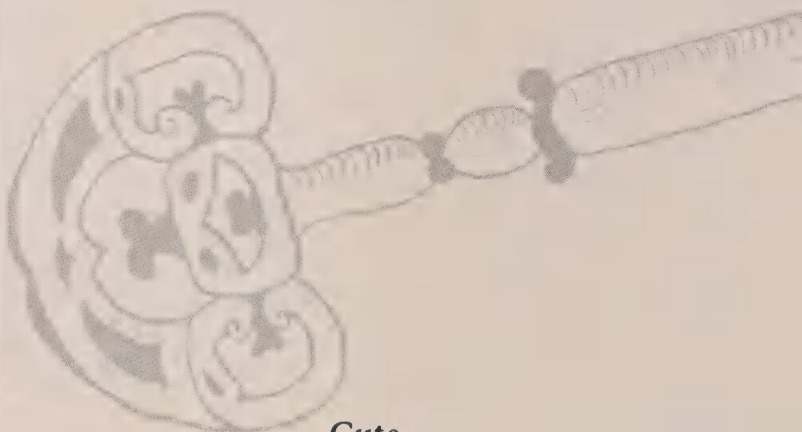

Friendly

Peggy Welch, Joan Huffman, and John Williams enjoyed chats on the front steps.

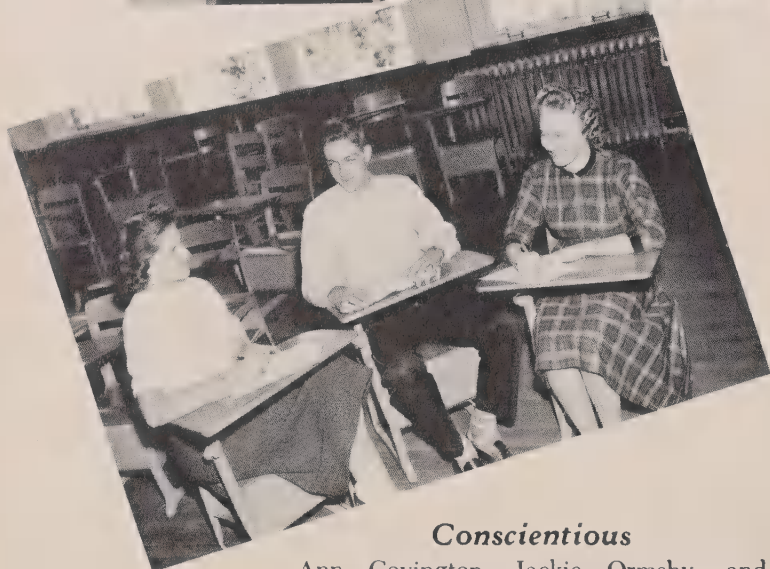

Versatile

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try, again," was the motto of Missy Allen, Barbara Faulkner, and Buck Kitchin.

Cute

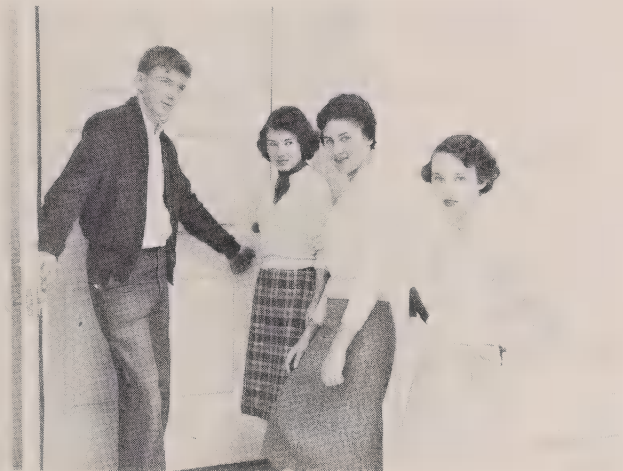

Mary Eva Harkey, Louise Treadaway, and Grady Carter were "cute as pie" chatting on the porch.

Conscientious

Ann Covington, Jackie Ormsby, and Brent Mudd never put off till the morrow what they could have done today.

Courteous

"The days of chivalry are not dead," says Hayward Morrison to Sara Atkinson, Doris Jones, and Pat Burns.

Co-operative

Mary Gathings, Carolyn Hildreth, Eugene Pegram, and Tommy Redmon agree that "a chain is as strong as its weakest link."

Sincere

"To thine own self be true" was the motto of Libby Buff, Shirley Gatewood, V. W. Gardner, and Benjy Brasington.

Athletic

Anita Hamer, Rachel Turner, Jimmy Webb, and Richard Brower went out for sports in a big way.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

The lights overhead were spinning round and round, and suddenly I found myself in a deep sleep. New surroundings came to focus.

After taking out my keys and locking up my studio, I went to the air terminal, boarded the rocketship, and looked around. My first trip to Mars. How nice it would be to try my fashions on the pioneers of this planet.

As I sat down in my seat I looked at my calendar. "My goodness is it June 6, 1967?" I thought. When I settled down, two lovely rocket hostesses offered me pillows. As I thanked them, I realized that these girls were Marietta Ward and Edith Hutchinson, two of my school chums from "ole W.H.S." Why I hadn't seen them in nearly ten years. I talked to the girls until duty called them. I learned from the talk that the pilot of the rocket was Tommy Redman with Hayward Morrison, co-pilot. What a coincidence! I also learned that the master minds, who designed and constructed the rocket, were none other than Jerry Lovett, Larry Rogers, and Charles Hildreth.

As my trip continued, someone turned on a portable T.V. set. I became interested in the program, which was "Music By Allen." As I became ingrossed, I realized that the star was another old classmate, Missy Allen. During intermission on the program I noticed the clever advertising and witty cartoons. Who had done such a good job? Of course, it was Benjy Brasington and Margaret Eddins, two more of my old school chums. Next on the T.V. schedule was a baseball game. As the game progressed, I found that Grady Carter was pitcher for the leading team and Richard Brower outfielder.

When I finally landed on Mars, I immediately began my tour of the planet. First on my list was a High School. There, to my surprise, I found Ridsen Hill, the Superintendent with Libby Buff his secretary. V. W. Gardner was principal. On the Faculty was Barbara Faulkner, Math teacher, Shirley Gatewood, English teacher, Mary Gathings, French Teacher, Hazel Horne, Home Economics teacher, and Rachel Turner, Physical Education teacher.

Next came Hollywood II and I found there none other than Grace Childs (Jackie Ormsby), Eva Novac (Mary Eva Harkey), and Marilyn Deese (Martha Deese).

Then on my list came "Dryes Department Store." Of course Lynwood Drye was the big wheel there. To my surprise I found Anita Hamer working as his secretary. Along with other employees, I met former schoolmates Pat Burns, Carolyn Hildreth, Joan Huffman, and Jennie Bet Tarleton.

The photographer was next, and to my amazement I found Tommy Taylor with this occupation. Katie Robeson was his very able assistant.

At a Publishing House on down the street I found Sara Atkinson secretary to a big executive, Ann Covington.

On down the street I saw "M and W" Grocery. Tommy Martin and John Williams were the prosperous proprietors.

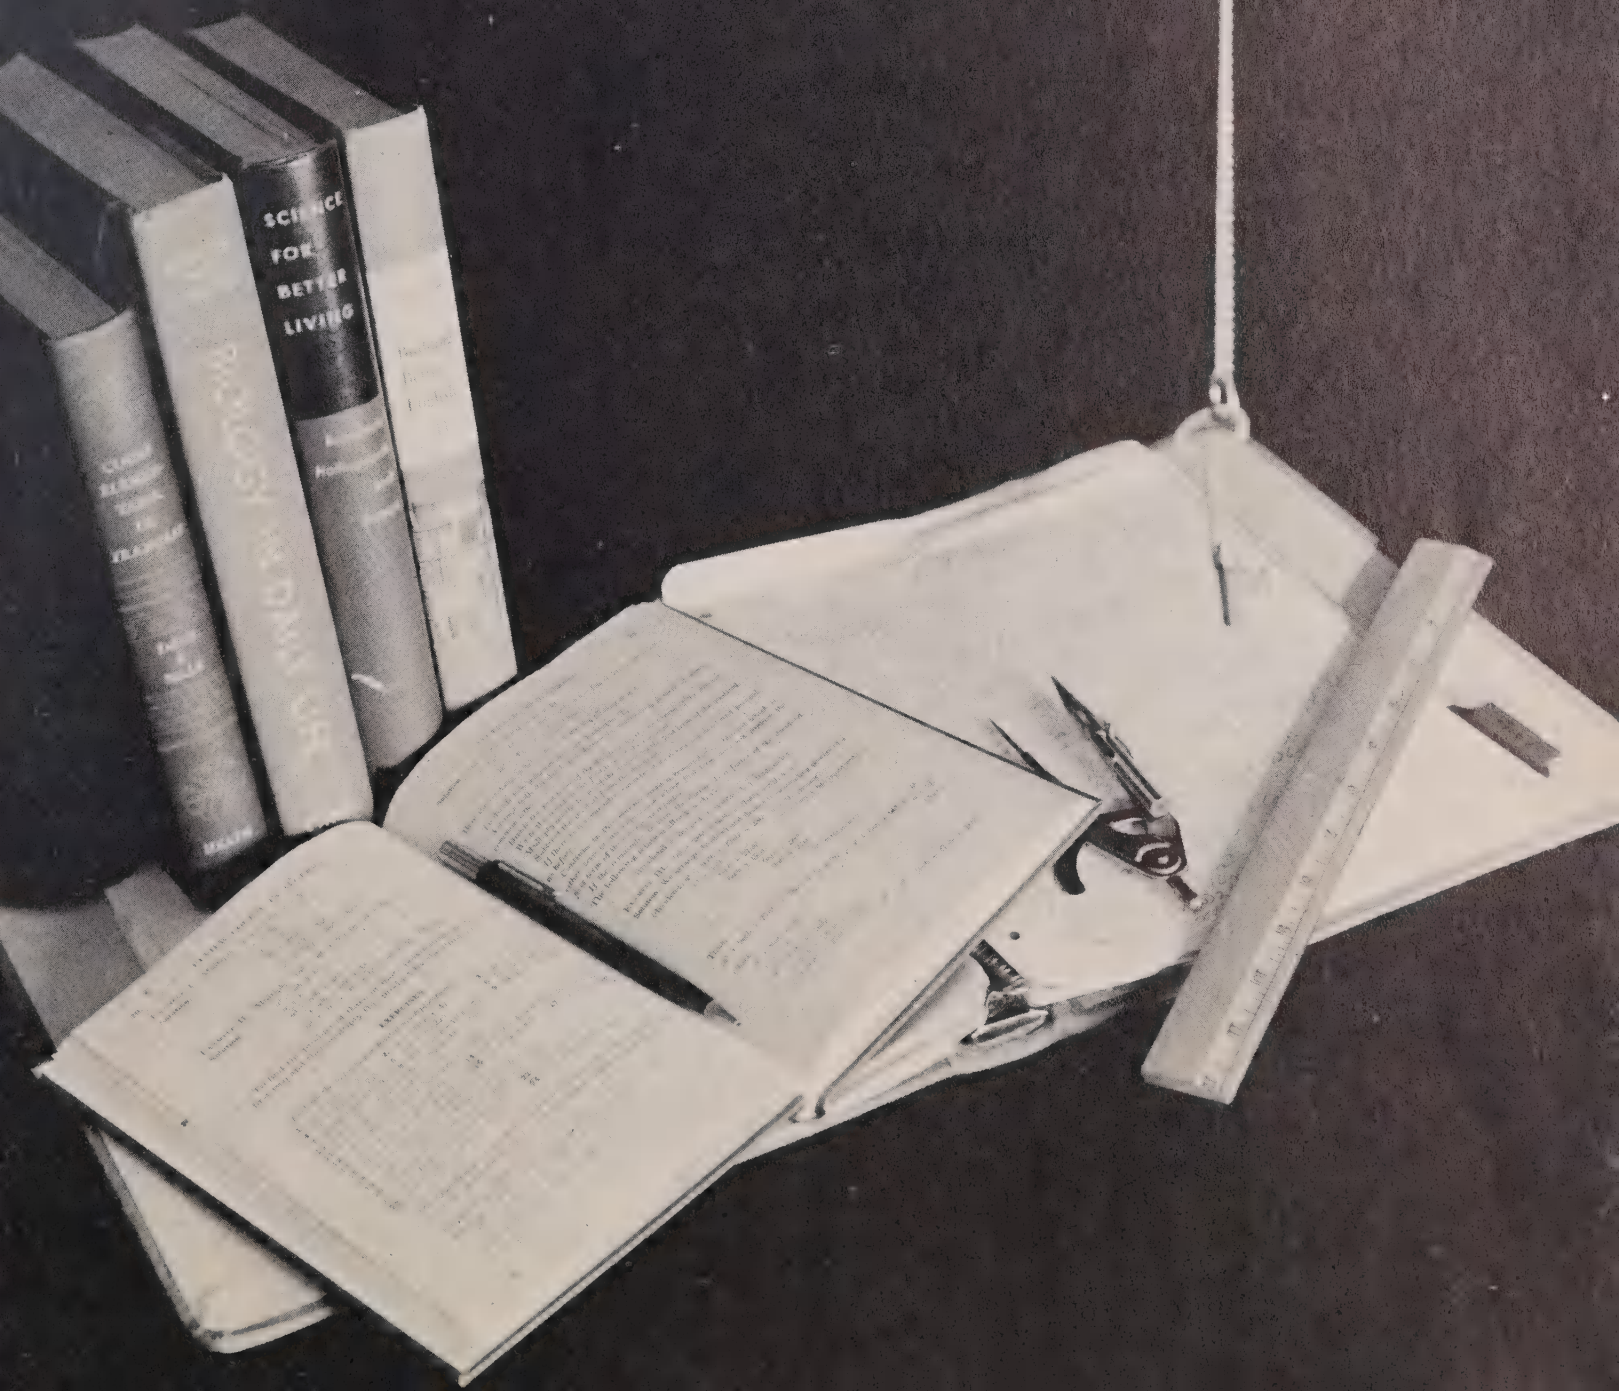

As my tour continued, I saw a laboratory. I found that Flake Marsh, Jimmy Webb and Charles Tucker were inventing a new hydrogen bomb.

Last, but not least, on my tour was the "Fashion Center." There I found lovely models, Janice Harrington, Peggy Welch, and Louise Treadaway. I met again with my assistant Jean Faulkner, who had made the trip earlier to look over my new business. Without Jean I'd be lost. She foresees coming fashions, then I design.

As lights began to focus again, I saw my doctors Brent Mudd and Buck Kitchen, smiling nervously. Their assistant, Betsy Kiker, rubbed my forehead. Anxious nurses Peggy Polson, Margaret Kelly, and Doris Jones stood around. Had I been dreaming? Was I dreaming? Of course, I'd just had my tonsils removed.

JUNIOR CLASS

Class rings, magazine sales, and other activities proved to be the best year yet for the Junior Class. Several of the girls were cheerleaders, majorettes, homecoming sponsors, and basketball players. There were varsity football, basketball, and baseball players among the boys. The year came to a close with the Junior-Senior banquet and dance.

BOOSTER CLUB

"All the way big team!" This was a familiar cry heard from a group of students in the bleachers at the ball games. These students with plenty of school spirit made up the W.H.S. Booster Club. With Coach J. Ray Shelton as their leader, they planned and sponsored the Homecoming activities. This year the group sold pennants to make money for their projects.

Care to buy a pennant, Coach?

Homecoming is big occasion for sponsors.

Why sure, it's all free.

"Gnat" Burns racks up yardage.

The Wadesboro Tigers under the leadership of Coaches Shelton, Sellari, and Huntley had a very successful season of Southeastern Conference play. In ending the season with a 7 win - 3 loss record, they set a defensive record of keeping 6 straight teams scoreless. In no game during the season were the Tigers held scoreless and they secured a 3rd place position in the conference. Two of the squad members, Buck Kitchin and Donald Scott, made the All-Conference team.

KEY TO OUR

Among the many keys which occupy a large and important part of our key ring is a tiny one that unlocks the treasure chest of odds and ends.

Here we find Junior-Senior with all its grandeur and graduation with all its ceremony.

Marshals chat after ushering for the commencement exercises.

Senior girls practice daring feats during the 10 minute break.

Wonderful food, wonderful dance, wonderful evening.

Miss Carol Raye is Wadesboro representative during Christmas event.

TREASURE CHEST

Here we also find those moments when we were gay and those when we were sad.

After taking a backward glance over 1956-'57, we see that it was such moments that made it a year different from all the rest.

Here we sit like birds in the wilderness—eating.

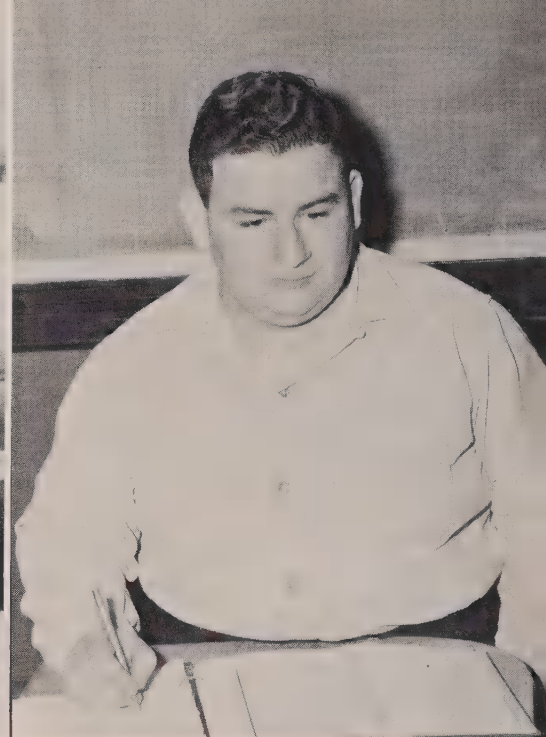

Big Tigers talk it over.

Leisure hours around W.H.S. were the best of all.

Ridsen Hill is Wadesboro nominee for the Morehead Scholarship.

ALMA MATER

Oh, hail to ole' Wadesboro High, whose praises we ever will sing;
Whose name, through all the ages, will surely ever ring.
We, your sons and daughters true, will cherish and honor you dearly,
And try to bring you glory due. So hail to thee!
Oh, hail to thee, our alma Mater!

Mrs. Gray,
 It's been loads of fun this year. I sure will miss you next year. I've really enjoyed sewing and cooking.
 Mary Grace

Dear Mrs. Gray,
 It has been fun being in your class this year. I hope I will get to see you next year. May God watch over you always.
 Bertha Ann

Mrs. Gray,

I sure will miss you next year. But, I'll see you my senior year in the Home Ec. Dept. if nothing happens. You are a wonderful teacher and friend.

Brenda
 Rincon

Mrs. Gray,

I have enjoyed this year with you. Thanks for all the help and forgive us when we were mean. May God bless you.
